NSEA Welcomes New Executive Director

Gary Peck takes on new role

The Nevada State Education Association is pleased to announce that Gary Peck has been hired as the Executive Director for the 28,000-member organization. Mr. Peck, the former Executive of the American Civil Liberties Union of Nevada, comes to NSEA during one of the most critical times in the history of our state. His leadership and passion for education will help guide the Association to better represent its membership and to continue its mission to improve the working conditions for all of Nevada's educators.

"Gary's been an outspoken activist all his professional career," said Lynn Warne, NSEA President. "His integrity and enthusiasm will be refreshing."

Coming from the ACLU of Nevada, Gary Peck has a strong background in advocacy and empowering organizations, making them a strong and formidable voice across the state. The NSEA will be no different.

"It's a job I will do with the same passionate dedication as I did in my previous jobs," Peck said. "I have always cared deeply about individual rights. And there is no more fundamental right than that of a child to have a quality education that ensures they will have every opportunity to succeed in life."

As the new Executive Director, Mr. Peck's first challenge will be the upcoming legislative session which promises to be one of the most difficult ones in recent memory. Looming issues include fixing Nevada's budget crisis, education reform, and attacks on public employee groups.

The Nevada State Education Association is confident that through Gary's strong personality and his personal relationships across all of Nevada's communities, he will help improve the lives of not just the state's educators, but every student attending a Nevada public school.
